

About Brand Culture

“Organizational culture is a system of shared values, beliefs, and business practices. The cultural system governs how people behave, communicate, plan, engage, and perform within the organization. Company vision, mission, and core values establish cultural expectations.

Leadership is responsible for effectively managing the Cultural System.”

Tacticware Culture Management System

We support our system through these services,

- 360 Organizational Assessments to benchmark brand perception
- UpSkill Training in Management, HR, and Sales to communicate process and skills
- Strategic Planning to identify, craft, and review objectives
- Expectations to benchmark achievement
- Customer Surveys to benchmark satisfaction and loyalty
- Management Reviews to verify achievement

Tacticware clients are companies pursuing competitive advantage. We believe brand growth comes from superior culture.

We accomplish this through a systems approach to managing organizational culture.
